Index for updating material assets in construction

2010=1

	Heading	July 2016	August 2016	Sept. 2016
IM	Index for updating material assets in construction	1.0441	1.0508	1.0683

Note: The IM index goal is to update the value of equipment in absence of an available replacement value for the calculation of equipment use charges. It should not be confused with various index for construction "equipment item for civil engineering indices" (MATP) whose purpose is escalating contracts.

Definition

The Building indices, Civil engineering indices, the various indices for construction and the index for updating material assets in construction are producer cost indices of different activities in the construction sector, mainly used for escalating contracts.

Method of calculation

The Building indices and Civil engineering indices are costs indices of different activities in the construction sector, compiled from six items in an analytical accounting process similar to the "KLEMST" approach used by economists in relation to productivity (where K = capital for "assets", L = labour, E = energy, M = materials, S = services for "miscellaneous costs", T = transport). Each item is made up of basic indices issued from public statistics.

Uses

Businesses and local authorities can use these official indices published in the Journal Officiel for construction work bids, by selecting the activity that is closest to the subject of their bid.

In contracts signed before the publication of the indices in the Journal Officiel of 16 January 2015 the former series have to be used until September 2014 inclusively, and, since October 2014 inclusively, the stopped series can be extended by multiplying the corresponding series by the connecting coefficient. The result is to be rounded off to one decimal place.

Dissemination

These indices are monthly published in the Journal officiel. Historical data are available on www.bdm.insee.fr :
